ARMY AND NAVY NEWS

Davy Crockett's eon, of illustrious memory, wouldn't wait long before coming down, if he were up a tree and some of the riflemen of the National Guard of Hawaii were down below with their guns aimed and ready to be fired. He would come down without stopping to parley. For the Guardsmen can shoot some, as has been demonstrated within the past few days at target practise in the competition for selection for the rifle team that is to go to Camp Perry to represent the National Guard of Hawaii in the annual shoot.

If Hawaii does as well at Camp Perry as she has done in the home range, her rifle team should stand very near the top of the list next month when the contest is finished. For some of the scores made by members of the National Guard of this Territory are remarkable, to put it mildly.

At rifle practise last Sunday, Private Henry Williams, of Company A, First Regiment, made eleven straight bull's-eyes at 800 yards. This is the "possible"—all that can be made at that range. Each shot counts five points.
Henry Williams fired eleven shots, and scored five points for each shot. In other words, his record can not be beaten.

At a range of 1000 yards, Mr. Williams made 47 out of a possible 50; at 600 yards, 45 out of a possible 50, and he made 43 out of a possible 50 on the skirmish run.

At 200 yards, slow fire, Williams made 43, and at the same distance, rapid fire, he scored 40. Altogether, his shooting is very remarkable and should go far toward raising the percentage of the team even if the other members were not in his class.

But some of the undoubtedly are.
For instance, Joe Gouveia, a non-commissioned staff officer, made 98 on the skirmish run. Captain A. W. Neely's average at last Sunday's practise was 295 out of a possible 350, which is regarded as remarkably good shooting.
An order will be issued this week by Adjutant General Jones that the team which is to go to Camp Perry will be chosen, after the final practise shoot, on next Sunday. Fifteen men are to be taken out of the eighteen best shots in the regiment. The team will leave Honolulu on the 28th of this month on the Alameda or on the 3rd of August. They will be absent about six weeks, probably visiting Seattle to take in the fair before they return. It will cost them only $15 extra to go to Seattle and it is probable that most of them, if not all, will take advantage of the opportunity offered.

An invitation has been received from Mayor John F. Miller, of Seattle, and the City Council, for the Hawaiian rifle team to visit that city and see the exposition. The invitation reads that "The City of Seattle, by its Mayor and Council, extends to the sharpshooters a cordial invitation to visit the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, to be held in this city from June the first to October second, 1909." It is signed by H. C. Gill, President of the Council, and John F. Miller, Mayor.

The average made by the Hawaiian riflemen at practise this year is very close to the mark of the winning team at Camp Perry last year, a total of 3260 points being scored by the best twelve men at practise last Sunday against a little over 3300 made by the winners at the National shoot in 1908.

One man from Company D, of Hilo, is in town, competing for a place on the team. It is understood that he stands a very good chance of being among the select fifteen.

Retirements Cause Surprise.

The presence of several names on the list of naval officers specified by the Retiring Board of the Navy for compulsory retirement has occasioned considerable surprise among naval officers.
It is the general policy of the authorities to weed out those officers who, for one reason or another, are not likely to prove of the greatest value to the naval service. At least one of the officers chosen for compulsory retirement has always been considered one of the most efficient officers of the Navy.

In order to prevent a congestion in any grade, and a consequent stoppage of promotion, Congress a few years ago passed a law providing that a certain number of officers in each grade should be retired each year. Officers of the grade specified are allowed to apply for retirement. Should there not be a sufficient number of voluntary retirements, the Retiring Board picks out certain officers for compulsory retirement.

Officers compulsorily retired receive three-quarters pay during their lives, but, to all intents and purposes, are out of the service. They are not eligible for the details that go to other retired officers, and the compulsory retirement is looked upon almost as blacklisting.

That an officer is chosen for compulsory retirement does not always mean that he is inefficient. Frequently he is an officer who, having entered the Navy late in life, will be too advanced in years before he reaches flag rank. It is the policy of the authorities to keep, as far as possible, only those men on the active list who will be qualified to command through the various grades to command rank.

As a general thing, however, it is the officer not suited to command, or against whose record there is some black mark, that the Retiring Board sees fit to shelve, and send into civil life, in all but name.

Pearl Harbor Matters.

The sinking of six by eight-foot shafts to a depth of from sixty to sixty-five feet at Pearl Harbor to ascertain the character of the soil and underlying strata, which has been commenced, is the preliminary work in the construction of the Pearl Harbor drydock. As soon as the desired information is obtained the work of excavating the space for the drydock will be commenced and the work will be fairly under way.

Pearl Harbor will be a busy place during 1909 and 1910, but it appears probable that there will be a decided slump in 1911 on account of there being no funds to prosecute the work.

The United States government has found a deficit of about eighty-five millions in its income, and a large slice has been cut from the army appropriation to fill the hole. The Quartermaster's Department is to be cut to the tune of $20,000,000, according to reports, and this will mean that much of the work that will be commenced during the next twelve months cannot be finished until after Congress shall have made another appropriation, which will not be available until after a year of economy shall have elapsed.

Personal Notes.

Charles Biart, second lieutenant in the National Guard, was very sick at his home last night of pernicious anaemia, and was not expected to live until morning. He was attended by Dr. Way-son.

Lieutenant L. T. Jones, of the United States Revenue Cutter Service, has been retired from active duty after seventeen years spent in the service.
Lieutenant Jones was supervising engineer of the tug Golden Gate for five years. His last duty was on the revenue cutter McCulloch.

The Mexican authorities have made an important arrest in Senora in connection with the recent gigantic Chinese smuggling scheme, in the person of Francisco Durano, who appears to have been the leader of the gang.
